

The logo features the text "BYU" in a bold, black, sans-serif font, centered within a large, intricate, black calligraphic flourish. Below "BYU", the word "Commencement" is written in a flowing, black cursive script, also centered and partially overlapping the flourish. The entire design is set against a white background.

Convocation Participants

Jasmine Marie Harouny is graduating with a double major in journalism and German studies. Being half Afghany has given Jasmine the opportunity to take part in an exciting and rich culture throughout her life and has sparked her interest in other cultures. After returning from a mission in Frankfurt, Germany, Jasmine decided to make studying German a priority. This past year she taught German 101 at BYU for two semesters. Jasmine started taking piano lessons at age eight and later began voice lessons. She participated in the BYU Women's Chorus her freshman year. Jasmine also enjoys art, writing, and being outside. Most of all, she loves teaching and working with children, which is what she hopes to do after graduating.

Maren Loveland is an American studies major and global women's studies minor from Atlanta, Georgia. She will begin a PhD in English this fall.

Michael Neddo majored in interdisciplinary humanities with an emphasis in foreign literature. He also has a double minor in Spanish and in global business and literacy. Fascinated by other cultures, Michael loves traveling to other countries to experience those cultures firsthand. He is fluent in both Spanish and Portuguese. Michael wants to combine his passion for connecting with people—through studying their culture—with his knowledge and expertise in business. He has received the global management certificate, which is the highest form of academic achievement in international business from the BYU Marriott School of Business, and he plans to obtain an MBA in international marketing.

Isaac Robertson is graduating with a bachelor of arts in English and minors in mathematics and creative writing. Born and raised in Utah County, he is surrounded by a large and supportive family—as well as a panorama of beautiful hiking trails. During his time at BYU, Isaac has participated in various organizations across the college, including as an intern for the Humanities Center, as a tutor for the Writing Fellows program and the Research and Writing Center, and as an editor for two of BYU's print journals: Criterion and Inscape. After returning from an internship with the Shakespeare Birthplace Trust in fall 2017, he also served in several research assistant and teaching assistant roles and obtained an ORCA grant to pursue his own research. His favorite place to read is outside on a sunny day. Isaac is excited to continue studying English literature in a PhD program this coming fall.

Graduation Speaker

A member of the English Department faculty, Trenton Hickman teaches classes in American literary history, contemporary American literature, and U.S. Latinx literature. After graduating from BYU with both a BA in honors English with University Honors and an MA in English, he received a PhD in English from the State University of New York at Stony Brook. He currently holds the Nan Osmond Grass Professorship, and his research looks at the effects of trauma and nostalgia on contemporary American literature generally and Dominican-American literature specifically. He and his wife, Wendy, are the parents of three sons, Noah, Jonah, and Isaac.
